TRIAL OF THE COXEYITES.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS AT WASHING-

THE JUDGE DECLINES TO DISMISS THE CASE AGAINST THE COMMONWEAL LEADERS-

TESTIMONY OF POLICEMEN WHO MADE THE ARRESTS.

Washington, May 5.-The trial of Coxey, Browne washington, and and Jones, the leaders of the "Commonweal of Christ," upon charges of treading upon the grass in the Capitol grounds and displaying a banner In the Capitol grounds and displaying a balling on the occasion of the parade of the "army" on May 1, was resumed before Judge Miller in the Police Court this morning. The prisoners' counsel were joined by Lafe Pence, of Colerado, and T. J. Hudson, of Kansas, Populis. Members of Congress. In the audience were several other members of Congress, including Sibley, of Pennsylvania; Waugh, of Indiana, and Cobb, of Missouri. Miss Coxey occupied her seat at the re-porters table to make a stenographic report of the

When the procession reached the point where witness was stationed. Browne dismounted from his horse and went back to where Coxey sat in a phaeton with a woman, who the witness sup-posed was his wife. Kissing her, witness said, Coxey left the carriage and joined, Browne. The two went down the street together a short distance, and then leaped the wall, Browne in adtance, and the Capitol grounds, into and through the shrubbery, and over the grass. Browne had a banner, which was handed witness for identification-the "banner of peace." When witness next saw Browne he was within a few feet of the House of Representatives waving the banner. Officer Murphy and other officers whom witness could not remember stopped rowne's progress. A struggle ensued, in which Browne was overpowered and placed under ar-Witness described his dress, the leather coat and light soft hat being the principal features. An objection was noted to the Court's ruling, and Officer Law was recalled to the stand. To Judge Miller the procession and the break into the Capitol nds by Browne and Coxey. The Court was proceeding with the examination when Mr. Pence rupted. He said that if the questions had been asked by the proper representative of the district the defence would certainly have objected.

grounds. This concluded this witness's evidence, he having been on the stand nearly two hours. Officer Aldrich followed. He was on duty May I at the Capitol grounds, and identified Browne and Jones as two of the men he had seen there. Jones carried a stick and banner, which witness took away from him. At the time witness said Jones was interfering with witness, who was near Browne, after he had been placed under arrest, crying out in an excited manner that "it was an outrage on an American citizen." Jones returned to the charge a second time, and then Aldrich and Officer Flather placed him under arrest.

On cross-examination Aldrich said he didn't see Jones strike any one, and that he didn't know how it came about that he was charged on the station-house blotter with interfering with an officer. He had made no complaint against him.

At this point Judge Miller stated that the colored man, Johnson for whose presence as a witness an order was issued this morning, was out at wors.

Among those present at the afternoon session were an attache of the Japanese Legation and Mrs. Marilla Ricker. Lieutenant Kelly, of the Metropolitan police, who, with Captain Garden, of the Capitol police force, prevented Coxy from making his speech on the Capitol steps, was examined, and there the prosecution rested.

Representative Fence, for the defence, raised the point that no offence had been shown by the evidence.

point that no offence had been shown by the evidence.

After a reply from Assistant District Attorney Mullowney, who contended that the offence was deliberate and that it had been in contemplation for weeks, Mr. Idescomb, for the defence, asked that the case be taken from the jury, on the ground of variance between allegation and proof, and Mr. Hyman asked the Court to instruct the jury to acquit Jones on the count charging him with stepping on the grass, for the reason that no evidence had been introduced to sustain the charge.

To this statement District Attorney Birney agreed, Hyman also asked for Jones's acquittal, on the ground that the manner of his carrying the banner testified to by the officer who arrested him was not a "carrying" within the meaning of the law.

Judge Miller overruled the motion to withdraw the case from the jury.

Mr. Hyman asked the Court to require the prosecution to elect under which count of the indistment they would ask conviction. This was also overruled, and at 2.20 the court adjourned until Monday morning.

THE PERSIAN MONARCH AT HER PIER.

NO EXPLANATION MADE AS TO HOW SHE CAME TO GO ASHORE-HER RUDDER-

The steamship Persian Monarch was towed into this port yesterday and taken to her pier in Brooklyn. Her rudder and rudder-post are badly broken, and her encounter with the Long Island shore will make it necessary for her to go into drydock before re suming her place on the Wilson Line. No statement was made yesterday by the agents of the Wilson Line or the captain of the Persian Monarch as to why and how the ship, on a clear night, came to run up on the Long Island coast. At the office of the Wilson Line it was said that a detailed statement would be given out on Monday. Captain Bristow refused to talk about the matter, and the question as to whether the rudder and rudder-post were broken after the ship went ashore is still unanswered.

When the ship went ashore the captain was in his cabin, and the pilot was in the chartroom just abaft the bridge. First Officer Hill was on watch. The pilot went out and asked Mr. Hill if he were not getting too near the shore, and suggested that he steer off a little. It is said that the mate then went below to ask the captain, and then the ship struck. There will probably be an official inquiry before the British Consul as to the cause of the Persian Monarch's misadventure. suming her place on the Wilson Line. No state-

Nearly all day yesterday a dense fog hung over Hook lightship. Incoming and outgoing vessels were greatly delayed by it. The Cunard steamer Lucania left her pier in the morning, but did not dare to pick her way through the dense vapor, and anchored in Gravesend Bay. By doing this she lost the morning tide and had to wait until evening before she could go out over the Bar. The ferry-boats in the early morning had a hard time of it picking their way across the rivers. The South Ferry boats made half-hourly trips, and the South Brooklyn boats ran only about once an hour. Toward noon the fog lifted in the Upper Bay, and the river traffic was resumed with its accustomed regularity. There were many narrow escapes from collision in the early morning on the rivers, but none took place. The disabled steamer Persian Monarch, which was towed up from Shinnecock the night before, anchored in the early morning off the Bar, and did not dare to come in until the afternoon on account of the fog. The fog was particularly thick in the Narrows, where the smoke from the oil works on Constable Hook had blown over and, banked up by the southerly wind, added density to the vapor. pick her way through the dense vapor, and officer Murphy, who arrested Browne, was the next witness and briefly detailed the facts of the arrest.

Sergeant John Kenny was next examined. Witness said that neither Browne, Coxey nor Jones said or did anything, in his view or hearing, that tended to produce trouble. He heard no one, save an officer under him, to whom he spoke, and several members of the Coxey army talk of trouble. He had told the men under Jones's command to stand fast outside the Capitol grounds, because if they did not he warned them they might get into trouble.

The same notice ommend for the cadetships. The same notice was also sent to the various public and parochial schools, and fifty-eight candidates presented themselves. Of these, seven were rejected because of physical unitness, and of the others, forty appeared at Grammar School No. 87, Amsterdamave, and Seventy-seventh-st., on April 21, for examination. The committee conducting the examination consisted of John L. N. Hunt, Brother Baldwin, of Manhattan College; James Godwin, Dr. James Lee and Henry W. Jameson. The examination was a thorough and a searching one, lasting from 10 a. m. till 3 p. m., and the result was highly creditable to the competitors.

The committee met vesterday in Grammar School No. 87, and after four hours deliberation, Mr. Hunt read the following letter in fleu of report:
The Hon. Lemuel E. Quigg, M. C., Washington, D. C.:

Mr. Quigg, after Professor Hunt had read the report of the board, addressed the candidates, congratulating those who had succeeded, and expressing his sympathy for those who had come so near the prizes and yet had lost them. He said that the time spent in the examinations and in deliberating upon them by the Board of Examiners was a proof of the care with which the work had been done and of a perfectly just and fair result. The young men who had won could enter the service of their country with the satisfaction of knowing that they had come into it on their merits and not as the result of anybody's favor. It gave him particular satisfaction to feel that his own duty had been performed in this fair and open way. Mr. Quigg thanked Professor Hunt and his colleagues, and Principal Edward H. Boyer, of School No. St. for their assistance in the conduct of the examinations.

Professor Hunt then thanked the members of his committee, and every one congratulated the boys.

THE TEUTONIC'S PASSENGERS.

FOUR MEN WHO KNOW SOMETHING OF NORTHERN PACIFIC.

MR. VILLARD STILL IN EGYPT-WILL THERE BE out when the special master begins his hearings at the Mills Building next Wednesday. Mr. Boutell

General regret is felt at the illiness of Charles L. Colby, who is charged by the plaintiffs in the Northern Pacific Railroad proceedings with complicity with Henry Villard, Edwin H. Abbot and Coigate Hoyt in the alleged scheme to unload the Chicago Terminal property upon the Northern Pacific at a profit of several millions of dollars. According to the statement of Dr. George G. Shelton, his medical adviser, Mr. Colby sailed on Wednesday on the steamer Teutonic. The need of his hasty departure under the orders of his physician makes it the more curious that the passenger department of the White Star Line informed inquirers that no such person as Charles L. Colby sailed on the Teutonic. It may be imagined that the friends of Mr. Colby might suffer considerable anxiety in case of any possible detention or accident to the Teutonic.

The passenger list of the Teutonic has been eagerly studied since it was announced that Mr. Colby took that steamer for the benefit of his health. A well-informed person said tour Mr. Colby had been as far downtown as the Arcade Ruilding, No. 70 Broadway, on Wednesday morning. But some comment was caused when it was necertained that among the fellow-passengers of Mr. Colby on the Teutonic were A. Marcus, Ernst Thalmann and William J. Curtis. Mr. Marcus, his friends say, has been called to Europe to explain the situation of Philadelphia and Reading affairs to foreign security-holders. But Mr. Marcus is the secretary of the Reorganization Committee of the Northern Pacific Raliroad, and for years he was secretary to Henry Villard. Mr. Thalmann is one of the members of the Northern Pacific Reorganization Committee of the Northern Pacific receivers, and who settled the affairs of Decker, Howell & Co., within a month after the suspension in 1890. Mr. Cromwell has been criticized by the Northern Pacific management of the Northern Pacific. The presence of Mr. Cromwell's partner, Mr. Curtis, with Mr. Colby and Mr. Marcus and Mr. Thalmann of the Reorganization Committee, on the Teutonic may lead PROVING MORE THAN THEY EXPECTED Chicago, May 5.—Mr. Pettit, who represents to Ives interest in the Oakes-Northern Pacific inves gation, said to-day: "I am well satisfied so far the inquiry has gone. We have proved everythin the inquiry has gone. We have proved everythin which we set out to prove. I said it was a ten million-dollar stead, and I think we have proved to be a million more than that. The men who ar implicated in the affair have been 'exosting' like rats out of a sinking ship. One of the bigges started early, at the first intimation of trouble Two others followed later, and another is transferring his property to his wife as fast as he is allowed to by law. Before we get through with this investigation we expect to prove who got the margin of $11,000,00 and how they got it. Onked did not get any of it. He claimed to be a greatilroad man, and should have known better that to pay or allow the company of which he was president to pay over $18,000,000 for property which had just been bought for less than $8,000,000."

Mr. Pettit left here to night for New-York, where the investigation will be resumed next Wednesday.
